Treasury Department,

BUREAU OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C., June 27th, 1888.

Hon. Daniel M. Fox,

Superintendent, U.S. Mint,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

Replying to your communication of the 26th instant enclosing a letter from your Assayer relative to imposing a melting charge on deposits of gold bullion from the small assay offices, I would state that it is proper and in accordance with the regulations that no melting charge should be imposed unless a separate melt is made.

Respectfully yours,

Director of the Mint.

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 152

E.O.L.

Treasury Department,
Bureau of the Mint,
Washington, D.C.,
June 27, 1888

Hon. Daniel M. Fox,
Superintendent, U.S. Mint,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

Replying to your communication of the 26th instant enclosing a letter from your Assayer relative to imposing a melting charge on deposits of gold bullion from the small assay offices, I would state that it is proper and in accordance with the regulations that no melting charge should be imposed unless a separate melt is made.

Respectfully yours,
James P. Kimball
Director of the Mint.